About RSM Press

RSM Press is the publishing arm of the Royal Society of Medicine, a major international medical society with a multi-disciplinary and multi-professional membership. We are recognised as a leading medical society publisher with links to some of the world's most prestigious organisations. Our journals are peer-reviewed, and widely referenced, and range in scope from primary research to clinical practice, covering topics from experimental medicine to venous disease.

Our flagship publication Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine is one of the most widely respected, and cited, medical periodicals providing insight into a broad spectrum of issues facing medical professionals.

Further details of our journals and packages can be found in this catalogue. If you would like to discuss specific packages, or would like to know more about the options for different institution sizes and geographical spreads, please contact your nearest representative or agent (see page 19). Alternatively please email rsmjournals@rsm.ac.uk.

NEW journals packages for 2012

To meet the needs of academic and corporate institutions, and consortia members, RSM Press offers a range of themed journal packages. In addition we have introduced two new packages for 2012 – the RSM Full Collection and the Customised Collection, which allows institutions to tailor their journals' libraries to suit the specific needs of their users.

RSM Press publishes 26 journals including two Open-Access journals. All RSM Journals are available online on the newly released RSM H2O platform hosted by HighWire as well as in the print edition.

The online version of a journal gives librarians and readers quick and easy access to a whole range of research articles. For journals subscribed to it offers instant access to full-text, where available, with links to references and cited articles.

RSM Press offers two types of institutional subscription – Print (with free electronic access) and Online-only.

Online-only subscriptions include:

- Access to PDF and HTML full-text articles from the current volume and previous five years
- Perpetual archival rights to paid-for content where RSM has the rights to deliver this
- Access to Online First articles where available – i.e. articles published ahead of print
- IP and/or remote user access authentication
- 10% discount on the print subscription price

Print subscriptions include:

- All the features of the online-only subscription with the added advantage of the printed version

RSM Press also offers a Deep Discount on Print (DDP) to any institution taking an online-only subscription. Print copies of any non-subscribed title covered by the licence are available at 30% of the standard institutional print price to any institutions.

Institutions are required to accept our Terms and Conditions outlined in our 'Site License Agreement for Access to RSM Journals' available on our www.rsmjournals.com.

Obstetric Medicine

Editors: Sandra Lowe, Royal Hospital for Women, Sydney, Australia

Catherine Nelson-Piercy, St Thomas Hospital, London, UK

Karen Rosene-Montella, Brown Medical School, Providence, Rhode Island, USA

Whilst huge advances have been made in reducing maternal mortality through obstetric causes, not enough attention has been paid to those medical conditions which can have a profound effect on the outcomes of pregnancy for mother and child. Obstetric Medicine focuses attention on these issues and covers topics such as diabetes, obesity, hypertension, heart disease, epilepsy, thromboembolism, autoimmune disorders and psychiatric illness.

Obstetric Medicine will serve as a source of information, a vehicle for the exchange of ideas and stimulus to further investigation.

Readership: Obstetric Physicians in training, practice and research; obstetricians and gynaecologists; perinatologists; general physicians; obstetric anaesthesiologists and academics.
